

Mountaineering Ireland – Climbing Team – Selection Process and Criteria

To compete at IFSC and UIAA climbing competitions climbers must be registered by their national climbing federation. The national climbing federation for Ireland (Republic of Ireland and Northern Ireland) is Mountaineering Ireland.

In order to be registered by Mountaineering Ireland to compete at IFSC and UIAA climbing competitions climbers must follow the steps set out below:

1. Make their intention to compete at IFSC and or UIAA competitions formally known to the Mountaineering Ireland using the 'Intention to Compete' form.
2. Present records of competition results to the Mountaineering using the 'Intention to Compete' form. Two to four competitive seasons will suffice.
3. Compete at Mountaineering Ireland climbing championships in your discipline.
4. Attend scheduled Mountaineering Ireland Climbing Team training days for your discipline.
5. Demonstrate that your level of performance would make you a viable competitor at IFSC and or UIAA competitions.
6. Attend an Anti-Doping workshop.
7. Complete and return the IFSC/UIAA Athlete Licence.
8. Maintain membership of Mountaineering Ireland whilst competing.
9. Comply with Mountaineering Ireland procedures and policies.
